

If you are driving, switch off!

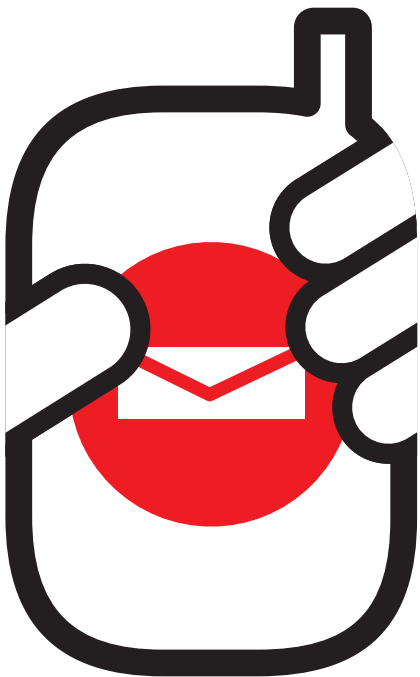

Nowadays you have no excuse for not switching off your mobile phone whenever you get behind the wheel. Should you forget this basic safety measure, there are applications that will help you disconnect and drive more safely.

One such application is Safe Cell. It blocks your mobile phone as soon as it detects your car moving. Anyone who sends you a text message or email will receive an automatic reply letting them know their message will be delivered as soon as you arrive at your destination.

Another is Drive Safe.ly. This converts texts messages into voice messages that are delivered as they arrive, without the driver even needing to look at the telephone.

It is always better just to switch your phone off, but if you can't or if you forget, then give these applications a try!

For 100% safe driving.
